

Thanks to Mr. Depew.

To the Editor of The World;

Permit an Armenian and a fellow-alumnus of Yale College to thank Chauncey M. Depew publicly through your columns for the kind and sympathetic words which he spoke on Sunday last in behalf of oppressed Armenia.

After such a speech, following the eloquent and ringing address of the great English champion of justice and humanity, we may little concern ourselves with the scandalous action of a New York newspaper whose opposition to Mr. Gresham's attempt of interference in Armenia has led it to an unwarrantable active opposition to the Armenian cause itself.

I trust the vast majority of the American press, which have no interest in upholding the tyranny, oppression and brutality which characterize Turkish rule in Armenia, will do their duty in this matter.

S. C. KEBABIAN.
