

---

The report that the Sultan objects to the presence of an American Consul at the investigation of the Armenian massacres seems to be well authenticated. It appears that the Sultan considers such a proceeding informal, and he is probably justified in the opinion that the Consul detailed for that duty might have been informal and undiplomatic enough to tell the whole truth.

---