

An Inhuman Stand on the Armenian Question.

To the Editor of The World:

The Armenians in the United States, who looked for public sympathy in their deep sorrow and expected justice from the press, are deeply grieved to see the New York Herald putting forth its best efforts to discredit authentic news and befog its readers as to the outrages recently committed. All that the Armenians desire is an impartial investigation of the facts. The Turk does not wish this, and the Herald is with the Turk, and has refused to allow Armenians to deny false statements and ignored our appeals. We appeal to the public through The World's columns not to put any confidence in the Herald's news about Armenia.
